The body was accompanied to Maplewood by relatives Wednesday and was taken to the home of William Lawson in the Town of Forestville. A large number of relatives and friends from Door and Kewaunee counties were at the Lawson home Wednesday and Thursday to view the remains of the departed woman who was loved by all who knew her.

PERFECT DAY FOR MEMORIAL OBSERVANCE

every day, and therein lies the danger. People are alert to the perils that they see every week or every year, but they give little heed to the hoocausts that are witnessed but once in a generation. And when the test does come it comes with deadly suddenness that tries the fibre of the soul. In the face of such a threat, whether a people will fly in panic or rally around their colors and defend their homes depends upon the depth and quality of their patriotism. *****

"It was the blood of our first volunteers, the liberty boys of 1776, that gave us freedom and government recognizing the quality of mankind and asserting the right of every man to enjoy those inalienable rights of life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness. The Boys of 1876—those intense patriots—left their homes and farms on only an instant's notice, and endured cruel hardships, torturing privations, to assert and establish our most sacred possessions, independence and liberty. *****

"I feel that with such a demonstration of patriotism still within close memory that there is no occasion for me to remind you people more than briefly of the lessons of this day. It is an old truism that deeds speak louder than words, and when Kewaunee mustered her contingent to send to Battery E all who witnessed that proof of the community's deep patriotism must know that here patriotism is safe, the traditions of heroes sacred, and that the ceremonies of today are sincere and genuine tributes in memory of your soldier and sailor dead."

ANNOUNCEMENT

The congregational meeting of the Emmanuel Lutheran church, which was to have been held on June 9th, was postponed until June 16th, on account of the building committee being unable to receive the proper bids for the balcony.

There will be no service at the Emmanuel Lutheran church on Sunday, as mission services will be held at Krok in the forenoon and afternoon.

In Memoriam

In loving remembrance of our darling Beulah Mae, who passed away just four months ago today, June 3rd. When Almighty God called her beyond An Angel came to meet her. Beulah Mae looked upon us, And smiled farewell to earth. Dear little hands, I miss them so! All through the day wherever I go— All through the night how lonely it seems,

For no little hands wake me out of my dreams.

Miss them all through the weary hours Miss them as others do sunshine and flowers,

Day-time or night-time wherever I go, Dear little hands I miss them so.

Sadly missed by

What Becomes of the Profits?

Four times a year, 50,000 stockholders receive dividends out of profits accruing from the activities of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana).

Men and women of modest means, hard-working, industrious citizens—a great mass of progressive people from all walks of life—make up the great group which owns the Standard Oil Company (Indiana).

No one man or group of men get the profits of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana). They go to a vast army of thirty people—50,000 strong—who have saved and invested their money in Standard Oil Company (Indiana) stock and who take pride in the big business it enjoys because they are joint owners.

A great many of the 50,000 partners of this Company (15,325) carry on the actual work of the organization. The employees own 4.2% of the total stock of this Company, and as a group constitute the second largest stockholding influence in the Standard Oil Company (Indiana).

The ownership of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is democratic in the wide and even distribution of its shares.

Among the 50,000 stockholders of the Company there are no individuals or groups of particular power—none which owns more than 5 1/4% of the total stock.

The three largest influences in the Company are the Rockefeller Foundation, the Employees, and the General Education Board.

The profits of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) accruing to the stock owned by the Rockefeller Foundation are distributed to the very ends of the earth, among all peoples of the world, wherever intelligent philanthropies can minister to the needs of man.

For the Rockefeller Foundation is an organization established with the chartered purpose "to promote the well-being of mankind throughout the world."

The charter of the Rockefeller Foundation is a pledge of limitless faith in the power of progress, in the triumph of good over evil, of education over ignorance, of brotherly love over selfishness.

The largest stockholder in the Standard Oil Company (Indiana)—the Rockefeller Foundation—is a charity as deep as human need in its philanthropy, as intelligent as the highest knowledge of the age in its methods, as wide as the world in its scope.

Thus through dividends paid out to 50,000 stockholders, the profits accruing as the inevitable result of big business, efficiently and skillfully managed, are widely distributed over the earth—to a great body of thrifty employees—to a great mass of enterprising citizens—and through the Rockefeller Foundation to the suffering and the needy of the world.

A vision of the part that Standard Oil Company (Indiana) profits play in the well-being of mankind throughout the world gives new meaning to its description as a "big business."

The quality and extent of its service to humanity determines the true bigness of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana).
